

A 'Capitol' Idea

PROMOTING PRODUCTIVE PARTNERSHIPS — Larry Banta (left), associate professor of mechanical and aerospace engineering at WVU, meets with attendees at the sixth annual Industries of the Future-West Virginia Day at the Capitol Jan. 24 in Charleston. "Creating Energy Advantages for West Virginia Companies" was the theme of this year's event, which attracted more than 30 exhibitors from manufacturing, technology companies, universities and state government.

Photo by Kathleen Cullen